

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

So many people are incoherent of others desire to sleep, talk, or just relax on a flight. The last thing most people want to hear is the annoying noise of a Nextel sounding off during a conversation. If we wanted music we would require every flight to have headphones readily accessible. Not to mention, a full program of everyone's musical likes!

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

David Patterson
